SUMTER POLICE DEPARTMENT

2020 ANNUAL REPORT

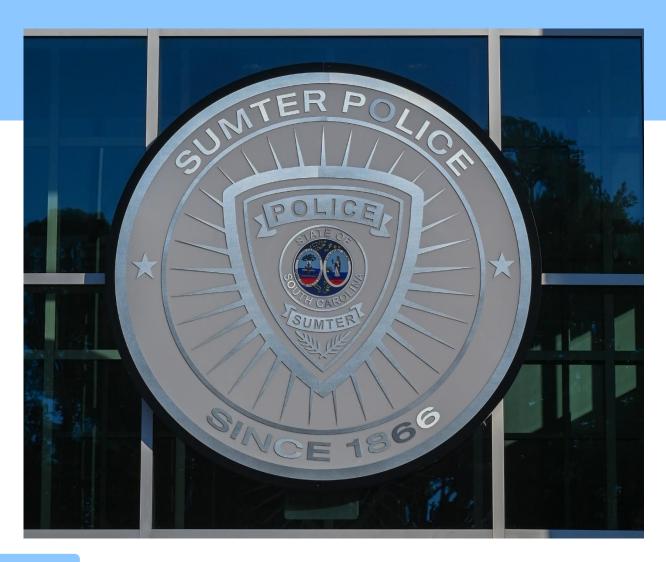

OUR VALUES

We believe that strong relationships between law enforcement and citizens are the foundation to creating safe, healthy communities.

We are committed to community oriented policing strategies and building trust, communication and cooperation between officers and the community.

We are committed to maintaining the city's most valuable attributepublic trust.

We are committed to maintaining public trust by conducting ourselves professionally at all times and by treating all persons fairly and with respect.

CHIEF'S MESSAGE

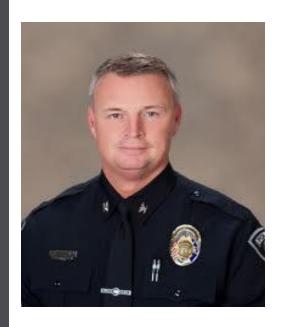

E. Pluribus unum - a Latin phrase meaning "Out of many, one" served as our nation's first motto, referencing that our cohesive single nation was formed as the result of thirteen smaller diverse colonies uniting together. This bold commitment to unify a nation of varied backgrounds, nationalities, and beliefs has shaped our history, and guided our ideals and national character.

Throughout our more than 200 year history, we have weathered periods when our country was deeply divided. 2020 will undoubtedly be recorded as a year that challenged the unity of our nation, state, and local communities. Within these challenges however we sought opportunity. For law enforcement nationally, this meant bold shifts to realign and restructure policies and procedures, paving the way for systemic change.

I am proud of the commitment the City of Sumter has made in developing strong ties between our operating strategies and social responsibility. This investment allowed for peaceful expression by the community following the senseless death of George Floyd in May. Together, we rose above the national struggles and charted a pathway to meaningful dialogue. Whatever challenges we face as a community, state or nation, Sumter Police Department will serve with integrity and compassion.

As we continue to confront a global pandemic that impacts every facet of our community, our thoughts remain with those most deeply affected by the virus.

I am proud of the commitment the City of Sumter has made in developing strong ties between our operating strategies and social responsibility.

Shared Value

The senseless and tragic death of George Floyd illuminated the importance of law enforcement accountability and community trust. In the wake of national unrest, our community came forward to not only have their voices heard, but to also forge new levels of partnership.

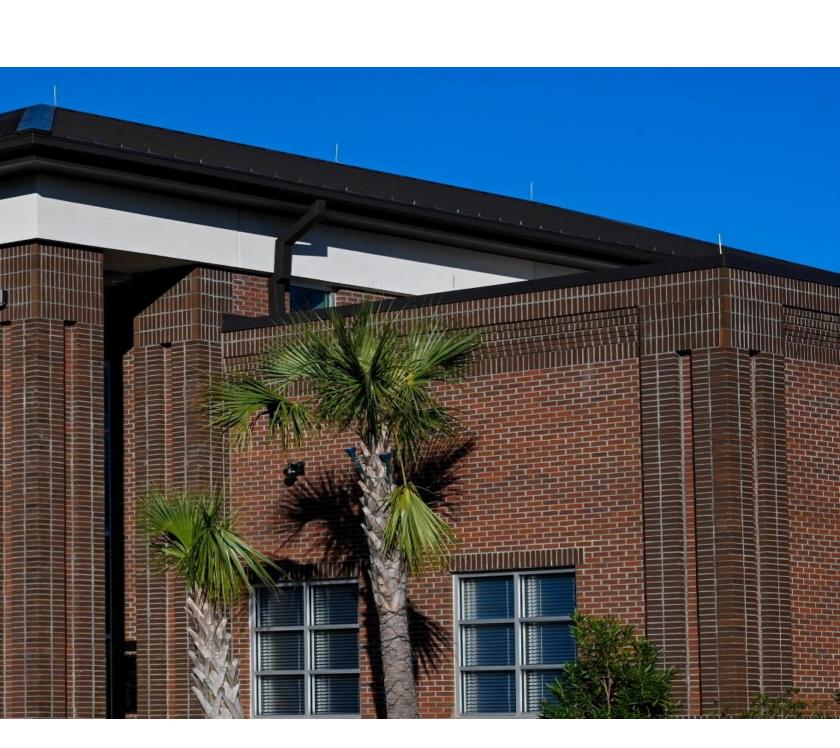

A unity march against racism and violence was held on June 14. Organized by local clergy, the event brought together the faith community, citizens and law enforcement. The show of solidarity highlighted a shared commitment to stand against racism, violence and bias-based ideology.

UNIFORM SERVICES DIVISION

COMMANDER

Providing 24 hour response to calls for service, the Uniform Services Division is the largest and most visible department entity. In addition to traditional call response, officers adhere to a community-oriented policing philosophy, initiating proactive community contact designed to educate and build public trust.

The division's Traffic officers are committed to promoting pedestrian and vehicle safety, and receive specialized training to assist in the enforcement of City and State traffic laws.

A K-9 unit with 4 officers and 5 dogs provides 24 hour shift assistance and is a favorite at school visits.

COMMUNITY SERVICES DIVISION

COMMANDER

As COVID-19 spread and restricted activities, Community Services creatively modified its outreach strategies.

Maintaining personal contact with CheckMate seniors was a priority. Increased phone checks, outdoor visits and deliveries of medication and other essentials protected vulnerable participants from public exposure. Mentoring opportunities shifted outdoors allowing officers to remain connected to youth as they adapted to virtual learning.

Our commitment to community outreach will remain fluid as we navigate the challenges of this and any other extreme event.

PROJECT CHECKMATE

While aging in place is the choice of many seniors, the logistics of that decision are often a blind spot for family members. Project CheckMate is designed to help fill the void by pairing participants with a law enforcement officer who visits regularly and assists with basic household needs.

As the COVID-19 virus spread through Sumter forcing vulnerable populations to restrict activities, CheckMate participants and their family members indicated greater peace of mind knowing an officer was invested in their and their loved ones well-being.

DOWNTOWN PATROL

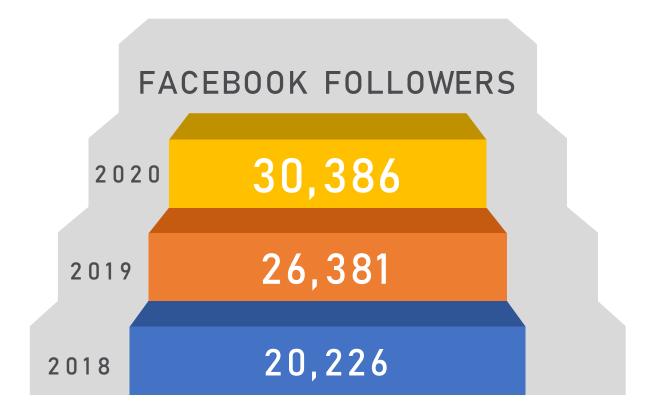

Sumter's downtown area has become a destination for local residents and out of town visitors alike. Anchored by the historic Opera House, the area has grown to include a modern 4 story hotel, an eclectic mix of locally owned shoppes, and restaurant choices that run the gamut from Chinese take-out to upscale nouveau Southern cuisine.

SPD officers work to develop personal relationships with downtown merchants and ensure the safety of all patrons enjoying amenities the historic area of our City has to offer.

SOCIAL MEDIA ENGAGEMENT

3 YEAR GROWTH RATE - 50%

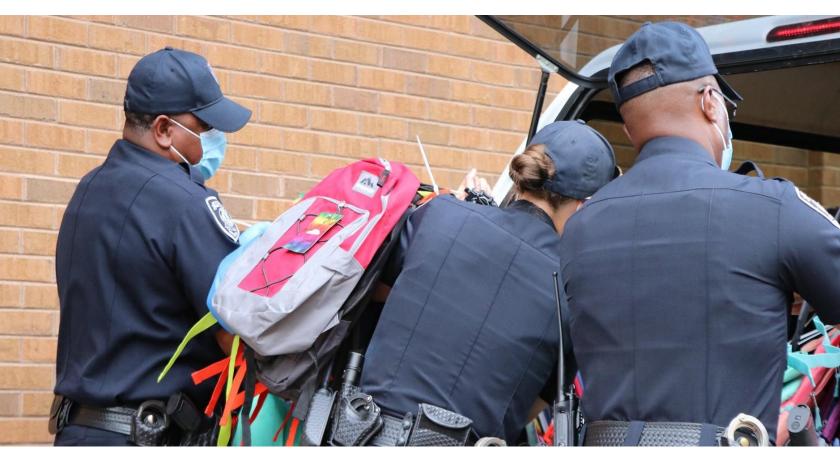

Social media has important platform for law become an enforcement to engage service populations. Amid the global pandemic, Facebook has provided Sumter Police Department with a powerful tool to educate and engage the Sumter community and also cast a wider recruitment net. Leveraging those who opt to relevant and reliable information receive digitally, the department's Facebook page has experienced a three year follower growth rate of 50%.

COMMUNITY CONNECTIONS

The global pandemic of 2020 required Community Services to pivot creatively in identifying opportunities for community outreach. Mentoring programs shifted outdoors as weather permitted, and backpacks with school supplies replaced our Back to School Bash. The Great Christmas Décor War pitted SPD divisions against one another to create a festive and well-lit outdoor space for the community to enjoy throughout the holidays.

THE GREAT CHRISTMAS DÉCOR WAR

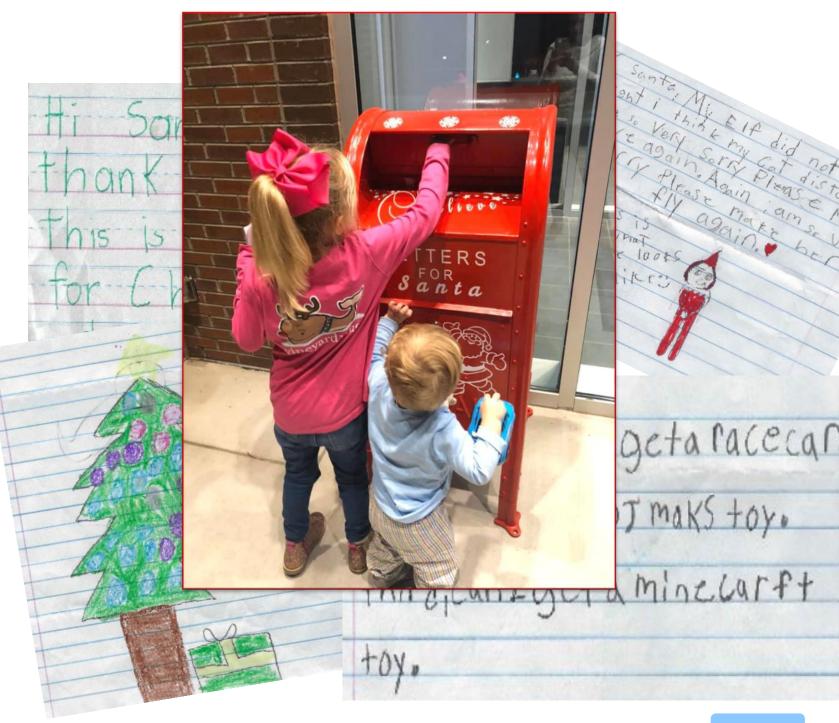

COVID-19 changed the way we celebrate the holidays, but it did not stop the celebration! Divisions within the department were challenged to create holiday themed areas on the front lawn of the department, which were judged by the children of Crosswell Children's Home. Santa, Mrs. Claus and Johnny the Elf stopped in to enjoy hot cocoa and cookies with the children.

The Administration division's National Lampoon's Christmas Vacation display was awarded bragging rights and the coveted 5' illuminated trophy.

LETTERS TO SANTA

More than 125 children entrusted the department to safely deliver their wish list to the North Pole. Despite a busy December schedule, Santa found time to personally respond to each child with the assurance that a global pandemic could never stop Christmas from coming.

OFFICER OF THE YEAR

OFC CHARLES CONYERS

Recipient of the 2020 American Legion Post 15 Police Officer of the Year, OFC Charles Conyers has served with the department since 2009. Conyers has earned the respect of his peers and is known by all for his integrity and willingness to assist others.

Conyers received the 2020 award as a result of his keen observance and calm reassurance that averted a suicide attempt in July, 2020.

While leaving a local restaurant, Conyers noted a young military member in emotional distress. His thoughtful inquiry led the soldier to express his intent, and display his ability to end his life. As he calmly radioed for back-up, Conyers conveyed genuine concern, validating the young man's emotions. Through empathy and reassurance, he was able to gain the soldier's trust and identify professional crisis intervention resources to further assist.

OFC Conyers demonstrates daily the qualities and traits expected of an SPD officer, and we are honored to have him as a part of our team.
